

DEAL COMPLETED FOR KLING-DEL REFINERY SITE & RLYWY SPUR

It was surely good news for the investors in the newly-organized Kling-Del Refineries when last week word reached town that the deal had been completed for the site for refinery and that the Railway Commissioners had granted the petition for a railway spur for the plant.

The refinery is to be erected on the N.E. 36-44-7, which is just west and immediately adjoining the townsite along the right-of-way, and the papers are now being signed up for possession of this land, comprising something over fifty acres, to be transferred to the refinery company.

The first unit of 1,000 barrels capacity is to be proceeded with right away and we understand that this machinery as well as much other needed equipment is already loaded for shipment here from the States.

Arrangements are now being made for the immediate installation of the spur track off the main line of the C.N.R., which of course will be most necessary for transferring the heavy materials to the site and which by the way will save the company a large sum of money in haulage, etc. The most of the machinery comes assembled in big units, is thus easily erected and put into working shape quickly after arrival. Other equipment from the eastern States is also on the way and it is hoped to have the first unit in shape to turn out distillate in time to supply farmers for their threshing around here this fall. At the most seven or eight weeks should see the first unit completed, after which, no doubt, the plant will be housed in its protection from the winter weather.

The Guthrie boys, we believe, have the contract for the drilling of the big water well for the refinery and this portion of the undertaking is to be commenced at once, so that no hindrance will crop up when the use of the large amount of water necessary is desired.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS OCCURRING OVER WEEK END

On Saturday last, while Mr. Tom Mackin was assisting in the unloading of the new heavy machinery for the Anglo-Alberta Oils, he unfortunately one of the pieces of drill slip and strike him on the right instep. Tommy sure had a sore foot alright, and was using crutches for a couple of days, but under the doctor's care his coming along good now.

Mr. Jack Baker, who is working on Mabey farm west of town, was enjoying a drive with his new Ford coupe accompanied by Mr. L. Alexander, on Sunday last when for some unexplained cause the machine turned over on the Fabyan road. The car had one side badly torn off, but the occupants escaped with a bad shaking only everything has been put into shape now.

On Sunday afternoon, the McLaughlin truck owned by Charlie Church, just managed to get across the level crossing at Greenhills, when some thing happened to the rear end with the result that the machine was useless for a day or so. However no one was hurt, and the repairs have now been made.

While on a trip east at about noon on Sunday Mr. W. Carsell accompanied by his wife and family and Mr. B. Karman, struck a bad piece of new grading on the government road about ten miles out. In trying to make one of the hills the sedan skidded into the ditch (which is fairly deep at the spot) with the result that the car turned on its side. All the occupants received a severe shaking and some bruises. While daughter Margaret had her back cut in one place. It was indeed fortunate that Mr. Carsell was driving in a slow and careful manner or the affair might have terminated fatally.

HONORARIUM PRESENTED TO TOWN BANKER

We learn that Mr. R. (Doug) Towne, accountant of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has been successful in passing all the subjects of the associates' course of the Canadian Bankers' association. In addition to this splendid culmination of his efforts, Mr. Towne has received from the general manager of the bank the honorarium granted to officers of the bank who have achieved this honor for the year 1926.

CAME FOR TRIP; NOW DECIDED TO STAY HERE

Messrs. A. Gullihan, C. Branan, F. Thayer, and B. Dial, of Excell last week were on an auto trip to see the country, and incidentally to find a new location if such was to their satisfaction. They got as far as Wainwright on Saturday night and by Monday noon they had decided that right here was the best bet. To that end they have now completed the deal whereby they are to become owners of the north half of the south half of "45-0" and the S.W. quarter of the same section. The deal was put through by the Wainwright Realty and we understand that a goodly figure was secured for the land, too! The new owners are expected back here this fall.

RIBSTONE-WAIN OILS TO DRILL A WELL HERE THIS SEASON

Two wells will be drilled by Ribstone-Wainwright Oils Ltd. as their initial development program. It is intended to spud in the first well in the Wainwright field in the 1, 4, 6, 25-45-7, 24 in the next 60 days and its second well on the Ribstone Blackfoot structure within 90 days. The location for the latter will likely be in 20-43-2-4.

The Wainwright well is a mile west by contract. The location is in the 1, 4, 6, 25-45-7, 24 in the next 60 days and its second well on the Ribstone Blackfoot structure within 90 days.

FRED BERESFORD SAYS ADIBU TOWAIN FIELD

Mr. Fred Beresford, who had charge of the drilling for the Interior company here for the past nearly two years, has decided to make a change and although a large number will be sorry to see him go, he will congratulate him upon the move, in view of the fact that it means a decided step up for Fred. We learn that Mr. Beresford has received the appointment of field supervisor for several new companies opening up operations in the Turner Valley field, and managing director of one or two others. Fred has been through the oil game in practically every corner of the world, and we hope for his complete success in his latest sphere of operations.

THE CONSTRUCTION GANG OF THE BAWL GRAIN CO. WERE IN TOWN THIS WEEK PUTTING IN SOME REPAIRS ON THE COMPANY'S STRUCTURE.

ANGLO-ALBERTA CO. UNLOADS LATEST TYPE OF DRILLING RIG

Last week end saw the No. 7, Union oil drilling rig, which by the way occupied two big flat cars on its journey from Los Angeles, commenced unloading here for work on that company's holding 1, 4, 6, 25-45-7.

This is the outfit which Dr. David Credille has just purchased for his own use, and it is sure the latest thing in machinery of this nature. It is considered feasible that with such a machine, the record time for drilling down to production can be cut still lower, and from what can be learned we gather it is the intention of this company to drill some six or eight holes all on the same site, and with the use of a central power unit.

The building of the derricks will be in the capable hands of Roy Beray and it, certainly will not be long ere the big rotary is "turning out" and with he splendidly promising situation of the company's holdings, stockholders can rest assured that the liquid gold available at this spot will be visible at the earliest possible moment.

HOSPITAL SCHEME NOW ENTERING THE FINAL STAGES

Mr. R. Whiston, the provincial supervisor for municipal hospitals, was in town at the week end, and while there received the final arrangement of petitions for the Wainwright municipal hospital scheme. The hospital board will be appointed this week among the several municipal bodies interested, and then the arrangements will be made for the taking of the vote of the ratepayers on the matter. It is gratifying to note that the Village hotel, which is at present caring for some twenty patients, is only calling for a two-mill rate over their district for the year 1926.

BETHLEHEM OIL COMPANY HAS NOW ISSUED PROSPECTUS

Bethlehem Oil and Refineries Limited has recently issued its prospectus, which is attractively illustrated and carries a full description of the proposed activities of the company in regard to both drilling and refining. It also contains a concise statement as to the sound business basis and financial arrangements approved by the directors.

The prospectus contains several good photographs of Wainwright oil wells in addition to two sketch maps of the field, one showing the surface locations of the various wells, and the other showing the structural formation of the field and the depth reached by existing holes. The sketches were prepared by Messrs. Driscoll and Knight of Edmonton and are self explanatory.

Officers of the company are announced on the prospectus as follows: President and Managing Director, W. Keith Bell of Edmonton; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. A. Baker, of Edmonton; Directors, W. K. Bell, Col. George B. McLeod, Dr. H. B. Wood, J. P. Babb, Morris Baker, all of Edmonton and Alexander Hamilton of Lac La Biche.

The advertisement on another page of this issue will no doubt prove of interest.

FATALITY IS ONLY NARROWLY AVERTED AT LAKE SATURDAY

Only by the presence of mind of her friend was a young lady saved from a watery death on Saturday at Mont Lake.

From what can be learned, it appears that a party of tourists had motored to the lake for a swim, and upon reaching there members of the party immediately got into the water. One young lady (who had previously stated that she could swim, walked out beyond her depth near the diving board and got into difficulties. Her companion, noticing this rushed to her aid and at once dragged her back to shore by the hair of the head.

The alarm was raised for assistance and Mr. Dick Mackay and others who fortunately were working on the erection of the new bath-house there went to give help.

After quite some time, and some resuscitation exercises on the patient, she was brought back from insensibility, and shortly after was brought back to town but little the worse for her adventure (and the amount of water she had swallowed).

This goes to show how careful all should be when entering any strange body of water; the very best of swimmers are liable to take cramps, and it often seems a foolish thing for swimmers to watch one another for safety's sake, despite the fact that there have been hundreds of instances where a real good swimmer has lost life for the sake of assistance just at a critical moment.

COMMERCIAL PET. IS NEW LOCAL COMPANY TO ENTER THE FIELD

The latest issue of Oil and Gas News states that holding more than 4,000 acres of leases in the Wainwright-Imma field, Commercial Petroleum Ltd. announces its intention to spud in shortly on a site to be chosen by Dr. John A. Allan.

The company is one of the newest of new local concerns and is backed by the following prominent commercial men of Northern Alberta: President, S. G. Caldwell; vice-president, A. M. Grigg; secretary-treasurer, W. R. Schurman; directors, J. McCaig, H. Burke and C. Webb. Commercial Petroleum Limited is incorporated under Dominion charter and is capitalized at 250,000 shares.

Very little trouble is anticipated in securing the necessary capital as the aims and plans of the company are on a sound and business like basis and the leases are situated in very favorable parts of the field. Arrangements to secure a drilling rig and crew will be made in the near future and as soon as the first well site is located, operations will be commenced.

Miss Vera Stuart has a guest from the city this week in the person of Miss Alice Goldworthy.

WEDDING BELLS PARNELL-SELLER

On Wednesday afternoon, July 21st at four o'clock, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patterson at Greenhills, when Miss Lucy Elinor Ethelwyn Seller, eldest daughter of the Rev. Johnson Seller and the late Mrs. John Seller of Montreal, became the bride of Mr. Lester William Parnell, of the Lennoxville Que. The Rev. G. Pybus pastor of the Wainwright United Church officiated.

The bride, who was unattended, looked very sweet in a gown of orchid georgette with hat to match, and after the ceremony the bridal party sat down to a dainty luncheon, the wedding cake occupying the centre of the table.

The bride's travelling costume was of navy blue georgette, with navy blue coat and fur trimmings. After the honeymoon which is being spent at Jasper Park and other western points the happy couple will reside on the groom's farm at Greenhills.

A convention to nominate a candidate to contest the federal riding of Battle River in the interests of the Conservative party will be held at the Elite Theatre (Wainwright, on Wednesday, August 4th, 1926, at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Officers of the Battle River Conservative Association will also be elected, and other business matters transacted.

All supporters of the Conservative party are invited. By order of executive, J. W. G. MORRISON, Secretary.

SCHOOL FAIR TO BE HELD IN TOWN ON SEPTEMBER 4

A meeting of the School Fair association which was held recently, saw nearly all the members in attendance, with Mr. G. Hollinshead as acting secretary in the stead of Mr. S. Bowman. The school district of Sydenham House Lake, Gerald Hollinshead and Wainwright represented.

A communication from Mr. Heckbert, of the Vermilion school of agriculture, having been read regarding the date of the fair, it was moved to Seabrook Hill—that the school fair be held on Thursday, September 4th—Carried.

Another motion placed the location of the affair at the Wainwright school. It was agreed that a general management committee be appointed to place tables arrange exhibits, etc. and that the convenor of each section. The following were then appointed to this duty: Vegetables and flowers—Messrs S. Baker, A. Harden, and Mrs. Jackson; Grain—Messrs. Kinghorn, Morton and Plater.

Live Stock—Messrs T. Hill King and McQuaker; Cooking—Mrs. Sargeant, Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Nelson; Sewing and school work—(this to include industrial art, penmanship composition, elementary science, etc.) Miss Rankin and the teachers of all schools of the association. (In each committee the first-named to be convenor.)

Sports—Messrs Hollinshead, Seabrook, Nelson, Murray, Bowerman, J. McCaig, H. Burke and C. Webb. Commercial Petroleum Limited is incorporated under Dominion charter and is capitalized at 250,000 shares.

Inspector Nelson and Mr. Washburn (chairman Wainwright S.D.) were named honorary president and vice-president of the association respectively.

A committee was appointed to draw up the scale of prizes of the prize list, this consisting of Messrs Hollinshead, Nelson, Bowerman, Baker and Rattray. It was decided that 25c should be sold on the grounds the day of the fair to provide prizes for the sports.

After arranging that the pre-arrangement committee should meet again on August 28th next, the Sports committee on the 21st of August next the meeting adjourned.

EDMONTON-WAIN WELL MAKES GOOD SHOW ON PUMP

After several week's delay through fishing for tools and awaiting for additional machinery, Edmonton-Wainwright was put to the pump and crude oil flowed from the pipe at a rate estimated at 336 barrels per day.

Oil experts believe that the flow will diminish in time, but are confident that it will flow at least 150 barrels a day for a long time to come.

There was a large crowd of spectators on hand to see the results of the test. A three-gallon pail was placed under the flow pipe and it required 23 seconds to fill it, which made about 8 gallons a minute. Mathematicians then got busy and figured out that the well was producing at a rate of 336 barrels a day.

The quality of the oil has been demonstrated by several tests to be satisfactory both as a fuel oil and lubricating oils.

There is a limited market for the oil at present owing to the cost of haulage to Wainwright and then to refining plant.

Some of the oil is being sold for fuel at the Western Consolidated well where it is giving excellent satisfaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson were trippers by auto to Vermilion on Sunday last.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION DECIDED NEW PROCEDURE

Marking of school examination papers, which has been under way the past three weeks will be completed in a few days and the annual tabulation and announcement of results will follow shortly. The grade VIII results will be ready for publication in the newspapers, as usual, about August 10.

Results in the other grades will this year be announced by mail direct to each of the pupils writing papers. This plan has been decided upon, instead of announcing through the press because it is proposed to give the full list of marks made by each pupil in all subjects which would represent a prohibitive amount of newspaper space if given out in that way, as in previous years.

Hon. Perrin Baker, minister of education, says that there has been a general demand each year for the full markings made by the pupils, the modified pass lists heretofore supplied to the papers not having been sufficient to satisfy them. It has thus been necessary to send out much of this information, by mail, in addition to the printed lists, and it has therefore been decided this year to mail out the entire results to the 14,000 writers concerned, with the exception of grade VIII in which the pupils will pass in one complete grade. The unit system on which the examination results in Alberta are made up is the same, says the minister as that followed in Ontario and other provinces.

NEWCOMER TO OUR DISTRICT SUFFERS ACCIDENT MONDAY

Mr. G. Miskinnis, who with his family only recently arrived from Ireland to take up farming in this district, has been located on the old Shaler farm north of the river, met with a very bad accident on Monday, and one which easily have terminated fatally.

The victim was plowing with a six-horse outfit when the implement presumably struck a rough root with the result that Mr. Miskinnis was thrown ahead of and underneath the plow. Although the team stopped almost immediately, he was badly dragged under the plow for some few yards and is now suffering from a broken rib and is badly bruised all over.

Dr. Wallace was called to the scene and rushed out at once to give relief and the patient is now doing nicely.

Mrs. Jack Taylor is paying a visit to friends in the city for a few days.

Mrs. G. Devlin and daughter were the guests of Mrs. W. Knowles for a short stay this week.

Mr. B. Fraser is the latest possessor of a splendid McLaughlin sedan.

Mr. J. Habkirk is away on a visit to his father at Neepawa, Man.

POPULAR BANK TELLER REWARDED WITH PROM

Mr. Fred Pamenter, more popularly known as 'Pam' to both young and old alike has left town and the cage at the Bank of Montreal knows him no more. Mr. Pamenter journeyed on Thursday to Chipman where he will receive the reward of a well-deserved promotion to the position of accountant-teller, the bank's branch there. During his residence here he has taken quite an active interest in all many sports, and after an acquaintance of upwards of two years, he will transfer his energies and his social presence to the northern town with the regards of many. Mr. C. Foster, the present teller at Chipman, will be here on Thursday to replace the wandering 'Pam'.

T. G. MADGEWICK PETROLEUM EXPERT COMING FROM ENG.

The appointment by the department of the interior of T. G. Madgwick, petroleum technologist, to assist in the supervision of the development of oil properties leased from the Dominion government in Alberta, is announced. Mr. Madgwick is an Englishman, with experience in practically every oil field in the world. He was formerly in charge of the petroleum department of Birmingham University.

Commenting on the appointment, Hon. R. B. Bennett, acting minister, remarked that since the retirement of Mr. Davies, petroleum engineer of the Calgary office, some months ago, it has been impossible to find a Canadian engineer qualified for the position who would be willing to take it at the remuneration offered. Mr. Madgwick, added the minister, is willing to take the position at personal sacrifice to himself in order to familiarize himself with conditions in Alberta.

ISSUE OF ELECTION WRITS BY PROCLAMATION

OTTAWA—Royal proclamation to declare the issuance of writs for a general election is contained in a supplement to the Canada Gazette issued. The writs are dated July 20 and are returnable November 2 next. The same issue of the Gazette formally calls parliament to assemble in Ottawa on November 17.

Both latter dates are tentative. Parliament is usually called for some date before the end of the year and the date is subject to revision.

DRILL STARTS DOWN ON SITE OF FIRST FABYAN PET. WELL

After an undue delay—caused from lack of and purely unavoidable circumstances—the first well of the Fabyan Petroleum Co. is now on its way down to production. The rotary is now doing double time at this site and with the prompt formation of the Maple Leaf No. 1 hole practically right alongside, it should not be long before the new company have reached the indications which every driller has up to now experienced in this field—a field in which by the way, no dusters have yet been encountered.

Drifter Carrington an oilfielder of experience (infact, crude oil in the breath of life to this mud hole) has charge of the operating end of the new company and little will be missed by him if past predictions to his credit is any criterion.

Investors in this venture can almost be congratulated that such a man with the crew under him is 'going after it' for he knows it's there, and it possibly won't be long before Fabyan Pet. has the usual happy announcement (in this field) to make "another producer".

SEPTEMBER 14 WILL BE DATE OF FEDERAL ELECTIONS

Voting in the Dominion election will be on Tuesday, September 14, with nominations generally a week earlier. In a few remote constituencies two weeks will intervene between nomination and polling days but the latter will be on the same date all over the country. The election bureau was particularly busy today dispatching writs and other papers to the returning officers appointed within the past week.

The election date which has been selected gives exactly eight weeks before the polling which is both ample for the campaign and for the time needed by the election bureau to get ready.

DEEP DRILLING NOW PROPOSED FOR THIS FILLD

Deep drilling in the Wainwright oil area should be attempted in the opinion of W. Miller, Vancouver geologist who recently made a visit. He says that present drilling is but an initial experiment and at 3,500 to 3,800 feet the real source of all these western oil resources is likely to be tapped and drillers rewarded not with hundreds but with thousands of barrels per day.

The drilling experiences of the past 20 years have taught us that all the oil occurrences in the western provinces of this Dominion are suspiciously associated with the underlying paleozoic limestone floors," says Mr. Miller. "These floors have been determined at Fabyan and Wainwright at a depth of from 2,000 to 2,300 feet, indicating a geological 'high' or profile of structure. Were it not that nature has handicapped the situation with a blanket of cretaceous sediments some 2,000 feet thick, oil enterprises here would undoubtedly be analogous to those in Pennsylvania which commenced drilling directly into limestone strata. That state produced some 260,000,000 barrels of oil at depths running from 8 feet to 2,000 feet in the limestone.

"What really will 2,000 feet in Wainwright limestone give? It has never been tried. All our geological mentors have been hanging round the cretaceous surfaces which are nothing more than a trouble-making blanket. Surely the paleozoic rocks which from the 4th parallel have everywhere given evidence of their mettle, are worthy of more respect. Notwithstanding the initial stages of drilling at Wainwright, these wells are in production these sufficient to provide revenue for further exploitation at mature depths.

"I have visited all the wells there, and from what I say these are all grouped and what applies to one applies to all. That the field is an enormous one with possibilities inconceivable cannot be gainsaid by any one with the crude knowledge of petroleum geology," says Mr. Miller.

BROKE MONEY-MAKING RECORDS OF STAGE STILL GOING STRONG

One hundred thousand dollars is the amount paid for the screen rights of 'Charlie's Aunt,' the famous old play by Brandon Thomas, which as a feature-film with Syd Chaplin in the title role will be shown here on Friday and Saturday at the Theatre.

There is a play which has earned up ward of three million dollars. Playing continuously for thirty-three years and in practically every country of the world is a wonderful record indeed, and an accomplishment made possible by the fact that 'Charlie's Aunt' has the basic qualities of farcical humor, which can be understood in any language. It is an exceptional piece of material for the universal language of the screen.

When the film rights were secured by Ideal Films of London, that company immediately began negotiating with the Charles of 'It's byword to make the picture, because the Christie organization with its 'medieval experience' in making screen comedies was considered the logical producer to film this laughing classic.

With the wonderful opportunity that the screen affords for developing the comedy situations of the play, the picture is said not only to match but to outnumber the play in point of laughs. As is done when the play is given on the stage at the present time all costumes and costumes in the screen version were brought up to date, so that the atmosphere is modern in every respect.

Syd Chaplin in the title role brings to the picture the talent which he has shown for riotous comedy in 'The Pilgrim,' 'The Galloping Fish,' 'His Temporary Husband' and 'The Perfect Flapper.' His supporting cast is made up of players of the highest repute here and abroad.

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS TO BEGIN AUG. 9

OTTAWA—Registration of voters throughout Canada will begin today by the election bureau will begin on August 9 and extend to and include August 14. In the rural parts the first lists must be completed by August 30. Both urban and rural lists are subject to revision. The need of impartiality as being impressed upon the election officers.

CHAPTER I

Molly, wrung out another nondescript little two-legged garment shook it fiercely between slim brown hands, and tossed it over into the bluing water.

"I hate men. I hate marrying. I hate children," she announced tensely through set lips. "I hate them. I hate them. I hate them."

Molly's mother flattered back deprecatingly from the pot of clothes she had been stirring and gave an abstracted jog in passing to the crib of the temporarily youngest Shannon. Maggie Shannon was from the beginning to the end of each offense perpetually in the apologetic mood. Before Molly's sternly assessing eyes she made propitiatory offerings—and promises for the future. The promises to be sure were never kept, for she seemed one of those to whom nothing but the confines of nature itself could set a bound.

"I—I wish you wouldn't talk like that," she said in her gentle, diffident voice. "It always scares me. Life can do such terrible things to you if you hate it."

nesses and lovely headdresses, who came into their own only after an incredible number of hairbreadth escapes and an equally incredible number of pages.

But it was not to her husband that Mrs. Shannon spoke as she bowed her fragile work-twisted shoulders beside Molly's springy slim pine sapling of a body. "Jo's a good hard-working boy," she ventured mildly; "I reckon there's not a better in North Texas."

"N he c'n pick more cotton in a day than anybody in Lamar County. Larry Shannon a preternaturally alert and freckled urchin of twelve copped up suddenly from nowhere and chinned in."

"N he c'n turn redder in the face'n a turkey gobbler's snout. Lousy. Larry's twin and shadow—Alonso and Laurence—their official titles—added with a hopeful glance at his sister's averted face. To goad her to wrath was the twins' meat and drink; a Memphis-revenge for her eternally correcting the way they talked and imploring them to act a little less like cannibals at table.

Mrs. Shannon's eyes sought her daughter's—timid and uneasy. You boys run'long and get the stove wood corded up before dinner." She shook the reluctant twins away, like a mother hen whose brood has proved too much for her.

"I wouldn't marry any man on the face of the earth"

They went lingeringly. Then Mrs. Shannon said hesitantly—speech on delicate, intimate subjects did not come easily between mother and daughter.

"Molly, I don't want you should go on slavin' your life out here when you can have a good husband—"

"Yes, and a baby every other year for the next twenty-five years or maybe every year" the other concluded with the concentrated, blighting bitterness of which only the very young are capable. She wrung out the last garment and propped her washboard uncompromisingly against a tree.

"Jo Blackburn can keep his house—and himself, too—so far as I'm concerned," she added with a passionate finality which might have been amusing if it had been a whit less tragically earnest. "I wouldn't marry any man on the face of the earth no, if he was made out of houses and silver and gold. I hate men. I hate marrying. I hate children. I hate them. I hate them. I hate them."

CHAPTER II

It was September, and every able-bodied man, woman, and child was in the fields from dawn till dark. The only difference between the Shannons and other Law's Chapel children was that the latter picked cotton on somebody else's land. Lem Shannon had never owned a foot of land in his life, save the ill-fated half acre on which his shack was stuck like a gray dirt-dauber's nest on the fertile black breast of the prairie. He had never attained even to the dignity of a "renter" before a touch of luncheon added the final excuse for a life of paper backed leisure, he had done an occasional odd job of carpentering.

They had a cow, a few chickens and turkeys. They made a garden. In the spring every Shannon that could "tote a hoe" chopped cotton. In the winter they went to school. That the one oasis in Molly's desert.

Satan In Sables

"Telephone for Doctor Aguil!" he whispered to Sergius, who hovered frightened and excited, near the door. The outburst seemed to subside Paul a little; he lay back staring at the ceiling. Thinking that possibly he might drop off to sleep again, Michael tied up of the room.

Sergius encountered him on the stairs. The doctor will be over in ten minutes.

Michael nodded, then gave Sergius orders not to go into the bedroom for fear of disturbing Paul, but to wait and listen at hand nearby in the hall.

Michael returned to the library and to his brooding over the change in that had upstairs from a happy, care-free companion, one who always wanted to be with him, one whose company he had always so enjoyed to a haggard and worn out old man. For Paul looked years and years older. What hurt most was that Paul was poisoned against him and laid his plight at Michael's door.

A servant put a note on the desk before him, but he did not look up. After a little while, however, he found himself looking at the handwriting on the envelope and wondering who it was from? Then it all came to him—Colette had sent it as he had asked her to do it open quickly.

There, in the middle of a great expanse of white paper, in small and dainty handwriting, the three magical words.

I love you. COLETTE

He read it over and over. It seemed like a cool breeze, blowing the fevered thoughts from his brain.

Suddenly a noise rang out upstairs—a queer, hollow, brittle sound that blended into its own echo. Michael's heart seemed to stop beating. For an eternity he sat spellbound, tense. Then Sergius rushed into the room, his face white with horror.

"Monier Paul has killed himself!" On a mild, sunny afternoon two months later a man could be seen wending his way through the narrow paths of the Cemetery du Pere Lachaise, stopping at length before a monument which stood underneath a large willow tree, whose leafy branches were spread as though in perpetual benediction on the eternal rest of the one buried there.

The mourner was Michael Yervodoff upon whom sorrow had laid a heavy hand. The old Michael—the dashing, roistering fellow of the boulevard had completely gone. A quiet, serious man stood in his place. Quiet, because Paul's tragic death had left an indelible mark on him; serious, because he had cast aside his old life and consigned it to oblivion and now looked resolutely to the future.

After a period of meditation and prayer, Michael slowly retraced his steps toward his car. At least, he was no longer alone in the world, he reflected, for he had Colette.

Also, he had a faithful servant in Decline. For as a result of several long talks Michael had at last succeeded in breaking down Decline's distorted outlook on life with the result that the former Apache chief was now his chauffeur.

"I'll sit up in front with you for I want to chat," said Michael as he got into the car. Decline's face lit with pleasure.

A vision was crystallizing in Michael's mind a thought that had come to him many times before and, lately, had taken definite form and would not be denied.

"Decline," he said after a pause. "I'm going to leave Paris for good very soon, and go to my chateau in Normandy."

"Are you going alone, Monsieur?" Michael laughed at the anxiety in

WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA JULY 28th, 1926

FORCE PUBLISHERS TO TAKE MAIL ORDER ADVT

It has been the rule in Canada and the United States for publishers especially the town and community publishers, to refuse to accept mail order advertising, no matter whether the publishers are given the support of their merchants generally or not. In the United States the Federal Trade Commission is considering steps to require newspapers to accept mail order advertising when offered, regardless of the attitude of the publisher on this subject. This is another step in an attempt to lay down the principle that the advertising columns of a newspaper are a public carrier and that discrimination regarding what advertising will be accepted is not to be left in the power of the publisher. The mail order houses are making it hard for the town merchant, but the information is gleaned from newspaper publishers' conventions in both Canada and the United States, that in cities, towns and communities where the local papers are liberally used by the local merchants the mail order business is not as great. The advertising experts of mail order houses watch all newspapers closely and are quick to observe when local merchandising is not fully represented in that community. Efforts are at once made to get into the local papers and the direct-mail advertising is pushed into that section with full force. If headway is made in the United States to force local publishers to accept mail order advertising, it will follow that Canadian mail order houses will advance the same arguments. It can be truly said that the local publishers have remained loyal, and will continue to do so, but in these days of severe business rivalry, when many newspapers are falling by the wayside, others being amalgamated and absorbed, it is necessary that legitimate business must be secured from whatever source available—Renfrew Mercury.

ALBERTA ASSURED OF GOOD CROP

In practically every section of the province there is much confidence regarding the crop.

There has been a fair amount of moisture in most parts, although more rain now would be welcomed.

A good crop this year will be the final thing needed to restore Alberta to real prosperity. Much of the debt incurred during the lean years has been paid. Practically all that remains could be cared for by an abundant crop this year and a substantial sum would be left for the purchase of many things denied the producers in recent years.

There is a belief founded upon scientific investigation that dry and wet years come in cycles and the same scientific evidence indicates that we are at present in one of the wet cycles.

When Alberta gets sufficient moisture, there is no doubt about a crop. The province has the soil and the light and heat for the production of ample crops, and when the last factor, abundant moisture, is present, Alberta's yields of high-grade wheat excite the surprise of the agricultural world.

DO YOUR DUTY TO YOUR NEIGHBOUR

There are about 200 daily Canadian and Sunday newspapers in Canada and nearly 1,000 weeklies. They have a circulation of millions and their readers comprise the entire population of the country except illiterates and children under six. That is to say, they reach everybody whose opinion counts.

The newspaper is more powerful than the book or the magazine. It has numerous detractors, and every body reserves the right to complain against the editor upon occasion some times they shoot him—that is, the editor, and so. An innocent man seldom shoots even at an editor.

'I see you have been lying about me in your paper,' roared the freighting subscriber.

'You may thank me for that,' said the editor. 'What would you do if I had told the truth?'

The editor is called on to give all sorts of advice, from counsel to the President of the United States to suggestions upon the teething of infants found that those preserved in lime and how to preserve the health or water are best.

prove one's golf stroke. He occasionally makes mistakes.

I was once the victim of an error for which an ill-natured man if strong enough, would have called out the editor, the compositor, the proofreader and the printer's devil, of the offending publication. A Denver newspaper carried near my column a very excellent syndicate feature written by a lady who was a world-famous authority on beauty. She gave advice to the love-lorn and told them how to attain those physical perfections that make the female of the species so much more deadly than the male. The headings of the two columns were transported by accident—and I was thrown into a nervous decline by seeing over my article the caption: 'How I Developed a Perfect Bust'.

Your newspaper, through its local reporters and by its membership in an international news bureau that sends dispatches by wire, informs you daily about everything that is going on in the world, from tragedies next door to political events in Europe and Asia. You expect it to do this. You demand accuracy, brevity and a careful selection of important items. Your editor does the best he can to give you what you pay for. He recognizes the importance of his position. He seeks, except on the editorial page and in signed articles, to let his paper bring you the news as it is not as he wants it to be. He knows that if his paper is to live, he must rid the news columns of all personal bias.

An editor of my acquaintance printed in his paper a damaging news story about himself with the same accuracy as though the item had referred to a stranger. Not all newspaper writers do that, but it is an ideal of the profession.

What are you doing to help your newspaper?

Subscribing to a newspaper should mean more to you than merely a means to keep abreast of the news. Newspapers are semipublic enterprises. The support and co-operation of citizens is necessary if good newspapers are to be maintained. The fact that newspapers, like private schools, do not solicit contributions and have not endowed, does not relieve the citizen of his obligation to support them by subscription, news contributions and advertising.

The newspaper welcomes opinions as other business organizations do not. If you were to hunt up the manager of your department store and tell him you would shoot him if he didn't sell more woolen goods and less cotton, you would never have to shoot. He would fall over dead voluntarily. Yet the newspaper welcomes and prints the most violent adverse criticisms of its policies and methods.

People can get the kind of newspaper they want if they want it badly enough to support the good ones rather than merely to attack the bad ones.

The newspaper will continue a power with or without your help—but if you want it to be a power for the good that you believe in, help it when you can be interested in it; subscribe to it; when you see something wonderful in it, tell the editor so, in person or by mail and regard it as an enterprise in which you have a part.

PRESERVING AND STORING EGGS

The economical housewife will take advantage of the season of heavy production and consequently low prices of eggs to put by a supply of eggs for culinary purposes for use during the season of high prices.

For this purpose there are a number of preservatives that are satisfactory, but the two outstanding ones are 'waterglass' and 'lime water' (Waterglass is an excellent preservative but it owes a great deal of its popularity to the fact that it can be readily procured at any drug store in convenient form.

Lime water is a much cheaper preservative and experiments carried on by the Experimental Farms have shown it to be equal, if not superior, to waterglass. For a number of years the Experimental Farm at Cap Rouge has been conducting tests in the storing of eggs. Some of the eggs are shipped to the Central Farm each season for examination and it is gestions upon the teething of infants found that those preserved in lime and how to preserve the health or water are best.

When eggs are to be held in a commercial way, cold storage is an essential. The guaranteeing process is one that is becoming increasingly popular. For a number of years the Central Farm has been carrying on tests with this process and the results obtained warrant its recommendation to commercial packers.

Literature on the preserving of eggs for domestic purposes or on guaranteeing will be sent on application to the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Storment, the best mine in Nova Scotia, when gold-mining in the province was an industry, is to be re-opened. Until it closed down, twenty years ago, Storment mine had produced over 675,000 tons of ore, giving an average of free gold of $4.13 per ton, or $2,233,000 during its activity.

A record single shipment of Indian motor-cycles, consisting of 85 cases, from Amory, Mass., recently arrived in Tokyo, Japan, having come forward by Canadian Pacific Rail and steamer lines. The demand for motor-cycles in Japan is a steadily increasing one, being a cheap and convenient method of locomotion and well suited to the somewhat narrow roads of that country.

Twenty-one British Rotarians recently came over to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montclare" en route to the International Rotary convention at Denver. On their return trip they came back through Canada, travelling to Winnipeg and Fort William, and taking the Great Lakes trip on C.P.R. steamboat to Port McNicoll. They returned to the Old Country by the C.P. liner "Montcalm."

The Canadian Pacific Railway has just added two of the new Mount Class observation cars to those running out of Montreal. Five more are just about ready to run and the balance of four cars will be ready for service shortly after these. They are all-steel cars, made up of three compartments, and one drawing room with a parlor room and observation platform. They will be a feature of long-run trains on the C.P.R.

The English football team now touring Canada had one of the most strenuous work-outs in the history of any athletic body. Staying for a week-end at the Chateau Lake Louise they had a practise at an altitude of a mile and a half above sea level, where the thinness and dryness of the air had a wonderful effect upon them. Their captain thought it remarkable that prize-fighters in training had not utilized the marvellous properties of this training camp.

A fourteen-car special Canadian Pacific Railway train carried more than a hundred of the most prominent representatives of banking and financial interests of New York City and State to Quebec, where they held their 33rd annual convention of the New York State Bankers' Association at the Chateau Frontenac recently. Included in the party was Col. J. W. McInnis, Comptroller of Currency, Washington, and W. J. Donovan, Assistant Attorney-General of the U.S., and several financial specialists of New York's leading newspapers.

While Canadian Pacific train No. 87 was standing on public crossing preparatory to taking passing track, an automobile, occupied by four persons, ran into the side of the train, badly damaging the train. In another case a driver said he saw the train and heard the whistle signals sounded, but too late to avoid running into the side of the engine. Yet again, a touring car, travelling about 25 miles per hour, ran through the crossing barriers at a public crossing in Montreal but did not stop. No injuries were reported in all three incidents.

Representing capital running into billions of dollars, a party of around eighty prominent bankers, financiers and men representing commercial and business interests, recently arrived at the Windsor Street Station, Montreal, from New York, and made a tour of the pulp and paper industries and the new aluminum districts of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Valleys in Quebec Province, with a view to personal inspection of the prospects in these great developments. The party was accommodated in five twelve-section compartments and drawing room sleepers, two dining cars and the private car "Montcalm," the whole being C.P.R. equipment.

RHUBARB SHORT CAKE

Every housewife knows that her family enjoys the succulent flavor of rhubarb and that a pie with its juiciness bubbling under a flaky crust is always a treat. Most have also found that a dish of stewed rhubarb for breakfast is most welcome. Yet very few ever seem to think of using this delicious fruit-vegetable which has better food value than many fruits, except in a pie or sauce.

Rhubarb short cake makes an attractive and delicious dessert. Wash the rhubarb, peel and cut in to pieces. Place in an enameled ware saucepan, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until tender. The surface of enameled ware does not interact with fruit and vegetable acids so the fruit and utensil will not be affected. Then drain off the water and for every two cups of rhubarb add one cup of sugar and flavor with ground cinnamon to taste.

For the short cake, sift together three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Cut in one half cup shortening or mix it in with fingers. Then add one cup of milk and one egg; well beaten. Spread evenly in a well buttered layer cake pan and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. When the filling and cake are cool, split the cake, put the rhubarb between and on top and serve with whipped cream with a little cinnamon dusted over the top.

SCHOOL RATES SET BY VALE M.D. FOR YEAR 1926

A regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Vale No. 392 was held in the Municipal Office on Saturday July 10th, with the Reeve in the chair and all members present.

On motion of Councillor Wahlstrom, the minutes of the meeting of June 4th were adopted as read. On motion of Councillor Belton, it was decided to cancel the request for a survey on the south half of 9-2-4-4 and the resolutions dealing with this road which were passed at the June meeting were rescinded. The report of the committee regarding the road between 12 & 13-4-4-4 was presented and they stated that a division would be necessary as there was a large muskeg which was impassable.

On motion of Councillor Sargeant this report was accepted and a survey ordered.

On motion of the Reeve, a survey was ordered at the N.E. corner of the N.E. 33-4-4-4.

The resignation of L. T. Biolette as weed inspector for Division 4 and Division 5 west of the Ribstone Creek was accepted.

On motion of Councillor Sargeant Bruce Nicholls was appointed weed inspector for Division 4 and Division 5 west of the Ribstone Creek.

The requisition from the Provost Municipal Hospital for $659.00 for the current year was placed before the Council and on motion of Councillor Wahlstrom was accepted.

Mrs E. N. Evans again appeared before the Council in connection with the Reeve as follows: That the Municipal District of Vale No. 392 does not accept any liability in connection with this claim for roadwork supposed to have been done by the late Mr Evans in 1923, the Council will save any litigation of her $24.00 as full settlement, this being about the average cost of straying a mile of road, and this offer is made without prejudice.

On the motion being put, it was carried. F. F. Padilla appeared before the Council with an account for $11.00 for pulling cars out of the mud on the grade east of 25-4-4-4 and on motion of the Reeve this account was tabled until the next meeting.

Accounts amounting to $713.65 were presented for payment and on motion of Councillor Belton were accepted and ordered paid. On motion of the Reeve, the following rates were struck for school purposes in the various Divisions:

Arm Lake S.D.	12 mills
Buffalo View S.D.	15 mills
Custer S.D.	9 mills
Doley S.D.	11 mills
Horne Lake S.D.	20 mills
Panay S.D.	20 mills
Rosemoyne S.D.	10 mills
Symington S.D.	10 mills
Ascot S.D.	15 mills
Browning S.D.	8 mills
Connaught S.D.	10 mills
Daisy S.D.	15 mills
McCaferly S.D.	10 mills
Park Road S.D.	32 mills

Setting Sun S.D. 10 mills
Willow Glen S.D. 15 mills
On motion of Councillor Wahlstrom the following appointments for Public Works were made and each Councillor was appointed to supervise the expenditure in their respective divisions:

Division 1	$2670.00
Division 3	$1990.00
Division 5	$521.00
Division 2	$670.00
Division 4	$504.00
Division 6	$2500.00

On motion of Councillor Sargeant, the Secretary was instructed to procure a copy of the latest brand book. A petition from a large number of ratepayers in Divisions 1 and 2 was presented to the Council asking that the road between sections 17 and 18-4-4-4 be opened up and made passable. On motion of Councillor Wahlstrom this petition was tabled until next year as there was not sufficient funds available to do the work this year. Council for Belton was against the motion. On motion of Councillor Belton an upset price of $80.00 was put on the house on the N.W. 9-41-5-4. On motion of the Reeve the meeting then adjourned until August 21st.

am overjoyed she will be there. But tell me, sir what is your plan?

"I have a big estate there, with many acres of ground, and I am going to arrange things so that soon an army will live there."

"An army? What do you mean Monsieur?"

"Yes, an army, and you will be its Commander-in-Chief. An army of boys who never had a chance in the world and who have missed the sunshine altogether. They will come out there and will be taught gardening, for instance. Each one will have a certain plot of ground for which he will be held strictly responsible. That will be one of your tasks. I can see it all in my mind. Decline, as clearly as day. Barracks will go up. The project will be developed so that boys can be there all the year round. Trades will be taught. The boys will be educated and turned out prepared to take their place in the world. Then the physical side must not be forgotten. I can picture you now putting all these youngsters through their exercises every morning with your old army snap and vigor. What do you think of the plan?"

Decline was breathless. "A wonderful one, Monsieur, and one that I know you will find happiness in. What a world of good it will accomplish! It is wonderful! Monsieur—immense—superb! No one but you would ever think of it!"

"Then you are with me, eh?"

With you? Decline gripped the steering wheel until his knuckles showed white; he glanced sidewise at Michael and said with tense earnestness: "Let me say something that is in my mind Monsieur. If I may, I feel like a man once more, thanks to you, and when I fail to be at your disposal, body and soul, night and day, well—it will be because I am out there. He nodded his head back in the direction of the cemetery."

Michael felt too touched to make an immediate reply, but when the car stopped in front of Colette's home he grasped hands with Decline—a long, eloquently wordless avowal of deepest friendship.

Michael found Colette sewing—and humming as she sewed. He marvelled at the joy she took in the simple little gift of flowers he brought to her. "Billy, playing in the adjoining room came to greet Michael with grave affection."

"I have something for you, young sir," Michael announced.

Billy took this as his cue to conduct the search of Michael's pockets that was a customary formality upon the occasions of Michael's visitations. His delight as usual was boundless when his skill in searching overcame Michael's experience in concealing and he discovered a bag of bon bons in Michael's hat.

He proffered the dainties first to Colette, then to Michael; each took one decorously. Colette with a little courtesy, Michael with a grave bow greatly to Billy's amusement.

"Billy," said Michael suddenly, your Aunt Colette has often told you of the country. How would you like to go there to live?"

"With the grass, M'sieu and the cows?"

"Yes, and the countless trees and brooks—"

"—and the birds and butterflies, and I could have a dog of my own and a cat, perhaps?"

"Yes, all of that, Billy!"

Billy's eyes were as round and shiny and big as any of the bon bons in the bag. "Indeed I would like it, M'sieu—and here he looked trustfully at Colette—"If Auntie goes, too!"

Colette kissed Billy humbly. Then both she and the child looked with surprise at Michael who, keeping a stern face with great difficulty, was shaking his head contrarily. No, Billy's plan does not include your Aunt Colette. She will not be there—"

Billy's face clouded instantly and the big tears welled in his eyes. Even Colette, she was not to be there—"

Billy's face clouded instantly and the big tears welled in his eyes. Even Colette, though she knew that Michael must be teasing, was soberly mystified of seeing the effect of his fun. Michael's contrition of him to make swift qualifications.

"Your Aunt Colette cannot go, Billy, because she will no longer be your Aunt. She will be your dear Mother Colette, and I will be your Daddy, for we are going to adopt you after we are married—"

Billy had a child's impatience of involved explanations; he brushed them aside to interrupt and come to the point.

"Well, then, will she be there?" pointing to Colette.

"Yes, Billy," said Michael looking into Colette's eyes for a sign that his confident hope was not unjustified—and finding it, Billy witnessed a final and wordless reassurance that all was well with this world in the tender way that Michael and Colette clasped one another's hands. But this was all quite as homely to Billy as the explanation of his adoption had threatened to become; so he merely returned with relief to his toys in the next room and left the lovers alone.

Michael sat down and drew Colette into his lap; she cuddled there as contentedly as a kitten, while he stroked her hair and drank in the intoxicating reality of her warmth and nearness.

After a while Colette said: "Now dearest Michael, what was all this nonsense with which you were filling Billy's little head."

"It was not nonsense, dearest girl, but a wonderful vision. Do you remember what I hinted to you, that day long ago in Versailles, of a plan for the accomplishment of some useful work in the world to make up for my years of idleness? Well, here is my—or really I should say our plan—because it is only through the inspiration of your faith and love that I could carry on."

Then he outlined to her in even greater detail what he had already explained to Decline. Nestled against his broad chest she listened seriously her large eyes opened to their widest and grayest. When he had finished he said:

"That is not a plan—or a vision! It is my Michael himself translated in to action—into deeds. The thousands of acres of your estate on that clean and windblown seacoast in Old Normandy are no larger than your heart, it is in there—"

Billy's face clouded instantly and the big tears welled in his eyes. Even Colette, though she knew that Michael over, his toys on the floor in the next room, and Decline went to sleep over his wheel in the parked car below; while Colette and Michael did not go to sleep but sat in that exalted and dreamlike state of peace and blissful nearness, that is more unbecoming than sleep, yet knows neither declining nor awakening nor end but persists tirelessly forever.

Your crop is practically assured now and will likely be heavy. The chief danger now is hail; J. Welch carry that risk with a hail insurance policy. See him right away.

Flushed, breathless, ecstatic, they were oblivious to the giggles of Billy who had stolen in to peek; and to the horn discreetly sounded by Decline in the street below as a reminder that it was growing late and dark.

But Billy went to sleep eventually

THE BETHLEHEM OIL REFINERIES, LTD.

AND

Invest in a Sound Alberta Industry Managed by Local Men of Proved Integrity and Ability

ALBERTA will be one of the greatest oil fields in the world—all authorities agree on this. The Royalty Well in Alberta is now producing $2,000,000 per year to the shareholders.

Refiners in the U.S.A. have paid large dividends and the new process of extracting gasoline will double the profit-making in refining. This new process will be installed in BETHLEHEM OIL AND REFINERIES, LTD.

Petroleum is one of our most valuable natural resources in Alberta, and with the high prices in Canada, a refinery will be a sound, profitable business. The soundness of our proposition will appeal to the investor who realizes that these pioneer enterprises in industry, based directly upon natural resources, reap the rich reward.

It is well known by most people that whatever business or work they follow, together with the high cost of living, it is almost impossible to lay aside any money for old age. The only remedy for this is to make a good investment.

No other stock in this industry, but the common stock of the Company. All the shareholders share alike in both oil leases and the refinery—a very important point to be considered.

The present offering of shares at $1.00 each will rank the same value as our next issue (the Refinery Issue), which the directors have decided will be issued at a much larger price.

DIRECTORS

The first qualification necessary for the success of a company is the men, on the directorate, their ability and their standard. The directorate of Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., are men who have made a success of their public and private affairs, men whose reputation is at stake and they would not solicit your subscription unless they felt you were receiving value.

President and Managing Director
W. K. BELL, Esq., Supt. of Continental Casualty Co. for Alta. and Sask.
COL. GEO. B. McLEOD, Provincial Magistrate for the Prov. of Alta.
J. F. BABB, Esq., Mgr. of R. A. Lister & Co. Can. Ltd., Farm and Dairy Machinery, Edmonton, Alta.
J. F. BABB, Esq., Mgr. of R. A. Lister & Co. Can. Ltd., Farm and Dairy Machinery, Edmonton, Alta.
MORRIS BAKER, Esq., Barrister, Edmonton, Alta.

Chartered Accountants: McCANNEL BROS., Edmonton, Alta.
Engineers DRISCOLL & KNIGHT, Edmonton, Alta.
Bankers: DOMINION BANK OF CANADA, Edmonton, Alta.
Solicitors: GREISBACH, O'CONNOR & O'CONNOR, Edmonton, Alta.

THE REFINERY

The refinery, which will be fitted with the most up-to-date machinery, will be built at Wainwright, Alta. right in the heart of the drilling. The policy for this is obvious. Transportation is one of the vital points to a refinery. Refining oil and its valuable by-products is well known to be highly profitable. There is nothing speculative about this. It is a sound investment. Vast sums of money are made in the U.S.A. in refining; consider the price of gasoline in U.S.A. compared to Canada. The Company mean to have their own producing wells in order to take every element of profit available for the benefit of the shareholders. Gasoline is a necessity and a luxury. The wheels of commerce would not turn without it. Canada pays today to the U.S.A. and other countries approximately $120,000,000 per annum for petroleum products, which will be kept in Canada in the future.

THE COMPANY

has no conflicting contracts, severe lease or drilling terms. Every lease is paid for and in perfect shape, and every lease can be drilled on. (See Geologist's report). The lease holders have not been paid any cash for their leases; they have such faith in the Company that they consent to their stock being put in escrow with the directors until the success of the Company is assured. The Company has a small capitalization—such a one that dividends can be paid upon.

The drilling is shallow; wells in the Wainwright field have been drilled in 12 days.
Col. Harkness, Commissioner for Oil and Gas to the Ontario Government, in his speech in Edmonton recently, said the possibility in the Wainwright field was very great, and that the field has barely been scratched at yet.

The financial arrangements are a strong feature of BETHLEHEM OIL & REFINERIES, LTD., a thoughtful and well-planned scheme, showing that the Company have at the head of their affairs men with a far-seeing vision.

The refinery plan is to be one after the model of the Lewistown Refinery, Montana, where 25% dividend have been paid to the shareholders from its start.

The directors intend to commence drilling two wells at once in order to furnish a supply of oil necessary to the maintenance of the Refinery. The site for the wells is well defined on the structure the geologists reports, and should prove a sure prospect.

You should act at once if you wish to take advantage of the present offerings of shares in Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., and our bonus that goes with our first issue. We predict that no company in the Wainwright field will make faster progress in getting under way with its operations. Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., embraces every meritorious feature of a successful oil opportunity; good holdings in the Wainwright field a first-class directorate; sound organization with no promotion or watered stock in the Company.

BONUS ALLOTMENT

The Company will give one share free of the Refinery Issue of shares to every unit of ten shares subscribed for now and standing in the original owner's name at the time of issue. Our prospectus with full particulars of the Company will be mailed upon request.
